'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

We're passing this on to you for what it's worth. But at the time it struck us as being funny:

* * * *

A friend of our's in Oakland recently got himself two or three lug boxes of grapes.

* * * *

Seeing that they would spoil, he squeezed the juice out of them for grape juice and jellies.

* * * *

He then threw the pulp into his back yard for his chickens and ducks to feed upon.

* * * *

From then on his barnyard fowls were stricken with a mysterious disease.

* * * *

One old hen would wander out in the yard, give a few clucks, and then fall over.

* * * *

For two days he wondered what was the matter with his chickens. Their combs were red, which was a sure sign they weren't sick.

* * * *

Finally he discovered what was the matter:

* * * *

The chickens had been eating the grape pulp and had become intoxicated.

* * * *

These green and white, or is it cream? colored Key System cars look much better than those old orange daubed cars.

* * * *

This all reminds us that a certain columnist remarked the other day in his column that the Key cars are colored blue and gold.

* * * *

Laugh that one off.

* * * *

England is having a fine time discussing the defeat of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V.

* * * *

The British are quite enraged because Vanderbilt on his cup defender used mechanical methods of shifting sails and navigating the yacht.

* * * *

This, in the British sense of the word, is quite unsportsmanlike, to say the least.

* * * *

Traditions are a wonderful thing . . . but you can't win yacht races with them.

* * * *

Reading an article in a certain popular magazine the other day about the first time the cup was won by the sloop America.

* * * *

The American yacht was so fast, and it defeated the British so badly, that the English insisted that the Americans had hidden a propeller and engine in the craft.

Man To Face Driving Charge

A. C. DeLarot, 1706 Barrett avenue, arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident pending an investigation, was released from the Richmond city jail yesterday on a property bond of $1500.

Police reports say that DeLarot, while driving south on Garrard boulevard, swerved into a car belonging to S. M. Allen, 252 Thirteenth street that was parked on the side of the street. After hitting the parked machine, police reports show that DeLarot drove back across the street and crashed into a garage on the opposite side.

DeLarot disappeared immediately after the accident, but was later located by police.

CITY IS NOW PORT OF CALL

Fred D. Parr of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that action placing Richmond on the list of ports of call had been taken by the United States Intercoastal conference as well as by the Pacific Coast conference.

This action, which followed negotiations by the traffic committees, headed by W. W. Scott, makes Richmond now a port of call for the largest and fastest freight steamers both on the Pacific coast and between here and the Atlantic coast.

"It will be necessary to provide a minimum of 250 tons for the steamers in the intercoastal trade," said Parr, "but from the way tonnage is developing at Richmond we anticipate no trouble along this line. The first of the large intercoastal steamers to visit was the Dorothy Luckenbach, which recently carried 15,000 cases of canned goods from our inner harbor."

The official action of the United States conference as regards the intercoastal steamers was effective last Saturday, Parr said.

Richmond has been approved as a port of call by the conference, for all steamers, not alone for northern points, to which service has been had for some time, but within the next 30 days a direct service from Richmond will be established to all points in southern California.

"Much credit is due to the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce for the situation in which we now find ourselves," said Parr. "Richmond is now in position to provide efficient service by the largest and best carriers to the principal ports of the United States and the world."

MAN TELLS OF DOUBLE SLAYING

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—UP—A man who told incoherently of murdering a man and a woman and burying their bodies in sand was held here tonight for investigation in the slaying of a young couple on the beach at Ensenada, Mexico.

While the suspect, John Bender, 49 year old Australian, did not specify his victims in the alleged confession the recent slaying of Lois Marion Kentle, Los Angeles sorority girl and Francis Conlin, 24, Monrovia store manager, naturally occurred to police.

Bender was arrested by Officer Robert Knight, who saw him dodging in and out of darkened doorways. Bender assertedly became hostile and on his way to jail remarked that "when a man commits a crime it preys on his mind."

Suspecting that Bender was the victim of a mental ailment but seeing the possibility of solution of a crime, police continued questioning.

In a rage Bender suddenly burst out:

"Yeah, I killed them, but you needn't look for their bodies. You will never find them," then it was said, he continued:

"A man jumped on me and I cut the hell out of him. Yes, there was a woman with him and I finished her too. But you won't find them. I dug a hole in the sand and buried them."

CITY HARBOR IS LAUDED

W. S. (Pat) Farley former city engineer of Richmond who has been in the southern part of the state for a number of years was a visitor at the council last evening.

Farley was appointed engineer of this city in 1910, and was here during the period when the first harbor bond issue was floated.

NEW SIGNAL AT BARRETT CROSSING

As a result of the conference a short time ago of city officials and the engineers of the railroad commissions, other street crossings over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad are to be further protected.

Improvements are to be made at the Barrett avenue crossing, and the Roosevelt avenue crossing.

The recommendations of the engineer were accepted by the city council last evening, and the improvements will be installed by the Southern Pacific in the near future.

The engineer of the railroad commission in his report to the council last night stated that Barrett avenue crossing was very heavily traveled, and suggested that two standard wig-wags, the same as at the Twenty-third street and the Cutting boulevard crossings be installed. In the future if it is deemed necessary a third wig-wag will be put in.

A twenty four hour count of the Barrett avenue crossing showed that 1091 autos, 318 trucks, 398 pedestrains and 101 bicycles passed over it.

One of the wig-wags at this crossing will be at the southwest corner and one at the northeast corner of the tracks.

At the Roosevelt avenue crossing the single signal will be done away with and two wig-wags installed.

It was the engineers conclusion that the Clinton avenue, Lucas avenue and Forty-seventh street crossings were amply protected at the present time as the traffic at those points was comparatively light.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. Sept. 22.—UP—Bishop William N. Ainsworth, president of the College of Bishops, Methodist Episcopal church, South, declined today to reveal the nature of new charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr. of the church, filed by four Virginia and Maryland pastors.

Bishop Ainsworth said he received the charges in the mail this morning but because of the official nature of the communication he declined to reveal the nature of the alleged "immorality."

"It is an official communication and will not be given to the public by me" he stated.

It is assumed the charges will remain secret at least until after the committee of twelve traveling elders to be appointed by Bishop Ainsworth, as chairman, has considered the case and either quashed the allegations or recommended their investigation by the church general conference.

Canadian Flier Lost In Wilds; Search Started

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 22.—UP-Royal Canadian Air force aviators hastened tonight to rectify a mistake which already may have resulted in the death of Mike Finland, aviator-geologist lost in the sub-Arctic wilderness north of Lac La Ronce.

When Finland disappeared last Tuesday, erroneous information was received to the effect that he had started for Prince Albert, 130 miles south of Lac La Ronce. No particular concern was felt for his safety.

Instead he flew into the barren Muskeg country to the north where winter already is beginning to close in. As soon as officials learned his real plight, they hastened planes from the Pas in northern Manitoba to Lac La Ronce to aid in the search.

Finland was an employe of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company. He started for Wollaston Lake, 200 miles across uninhabitable wilds north of Lac La Ronce.

When he failed to reach Wollaston, citizens said he must have crashed or made a forced landing in the bitterly cold barrens. In either case it was virtually hopeless to seek him without the aid of airplanes to scan the vast area of desolation.

BONDS TO BE SOLD FOR PROJECT

The U. S. Government engineer notified the city council last night that the present training wall contract was completed and there was a balance left on hand of the money that had been appropriated by the city of $5,910.69.

The first part of the training wall constructed was 3000 feet in length, the contract just completed added 4,000 additional feet to it, and the government now has plans for adding 3,000 more feet to the wall ,making it 10,000 feet in length when the work is finally completed

To do the additional work will cost $190,000, one half of which must be supplied by the City of Richmond.

The city now has $86,250 of the 1927 bond issue left, and the council ordered City Manager J. A. McVittie to sell them. The amount realized from the sale, with the balance now in the hands of the government engineer will provide the necessary amount of money for the additional improvement.

When the training wall is completed the plan of the government is to dredge the channel to a depth of 28 feet at its own expense, and later when funds are available to deepen it to thirty feet.

The letter from Lieutenant Colonel Thomas M. Robins, U. S. district engineer, that was read to the council is as follows:

"The contract for the extension of the Richmond harbor training wall from a length of 3000 feet to a length of 7000 feet has been completed, and all obligations have been paid. There remains on hand in this office a balance of $5,910.69 of funds contributed by the City of Richmond, available for future work. The cost of the above work was within the estimate as con-

ODD FELLOWS BEAT FORD NINE

A seventh inning rally that netted three runs was the principal factor in the Odd Fellows' six to three victory over the Moitoza Fords Sunday afternoon on the San Pablo diamond.

The battle was a give-and-take affair until the seventh inning. In that period, the linkers collected four hits and three runs to cinch the game. Whetzler won his own game when he doubled with men on second and third.

Both Martin of the Fords and Whetzler of the Odd Fellows chucked excellent brands of baseball Sunday. Martin was nicked for eight bingles and struck out six lodgemen, while Whetzler allowed nine hits and baffled seven Moitoza swatters.

Viano, Gray, and Carl Pinto waved the hickory with the greatest effect last week-end. Viano collected two hits out of three times at bat, tapping out a homer and a double for the Odd Fellows. Gray of the Fords earned three for four, while Carl Pinto banged out a triple. Whetzler, Sunseri, Matteri, Gray, and Moitoza all accounted for two-baggers.

Both aggregations staged several sparkling plays that, combined with hard hitting and close scoring, made the game one of the finest baseball offerings of the local 1930 diamond season.

The box score:

CORONATION OF OTTO SEEN IN EUROPE

PARIS, Sept. 22.—UP—The monarchists of Hungary were said on reliable authority tonight to have decided to ask the European powers on November 12 whether they would oppose the ascension of 18-year old Archduke Otto to the throne that has been vacant since the overthrow of his father, the Emperor Karl.

The archduke, only remaining pretender to the throne, will be 18 years old on November 12. Plans for his restoration have been rapidly forming in recent months.

The Hungarian legation in Paris told the United Press that "unofficially" it had no information concerning the monarchist plans, but it was hinted that such action might be taken on responsibility of the supporters of Otto. Recent dispatches from Budapest have reported the increasing confidence of the monarchists in the plans, especially since the marriage and withdrawal of Archduke Albrecht as a rival pretender.

The chief opposition to the plan was expected from Jugo Slavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia, which have jealously guarded against a Hapsburg restoration since the World war. They were responsible for one defeat of ex-Emperor Karl's efforts to regain the throne nine years ago, shortly before his death.

The chief figure behind the move to enthrone Otto is the youth's mother, Empress Zita, who believed the victory of the Fascist party in the recent German elections increased the chances of success of her plans. The Fascists have favored the return of the Hohen-Zollerns and would be likely to support Otto.

It was understood that Zita's brother, Prince Sixte de Bourbon, has been sounding out opinion in Rome (which was expected to be favorable), and Paris and London has been encouraged. Premier Mussolini of Italy was even reported to favor the marriage of Otto with a member of the Italian royal house to extend the sphere of Italian influence.

According to police reports, May failed to observe the stop sign at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue, and when Lilly signaled to him to halt, May fled.

CAGE LEAGUE PLANS ARE MADE

Tentative plans for the Richmond City Basketball league of 1930-31 were formed at a meeting of league managers and athletes last night at the Roosevelt Junior high school gym.

It was announced last night that seven teams have already signified their intention of entering the league.

These teams are: Modern Woodmen, McRacken's Odd Fellows, Mammy's Place, Santa Fe, Garfinkles, and Ben Maliks. Mammy's Place, Santa Fe, Garfinkles, and Ben Malik's were members of last year's league.

The league schedule will probably start about Nov. 3, according to plans formed last night. League games will be played every Monday and Thursday evening.

Practice is scheduled to start the first of next month. Special nights will be set aside for the various league teams in both the Roosevelt and Longfellow Junior high school gym.

This season's league games will probably be played in the Richmond Union high school gym.

It was reported at last night's meeting that several league managers have already collected strong lineups for what promises to be a fast, competitive season. Many of the veterans who played in last year's competition are back in the game, while a nice collection of up-coming youngters is filling up many grapes in the teams already entered in the league.

Blanks will probably be received by league managers this week concerning their future lineups and participation in the league.

FOUR STRONG GRID TEAMS SEEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—UP—Five Pacific coast football teams can be depended upon, even this early in the season, to attract national attention in the weeks to come, and to conduct themselves in intersectional combat in a manner creditable to the region they represent.

These teams are University of Southern California, University of Washington, Stanford, California and St. Mary's of Moraga.

At present it appears that at least one of the first four mentioned will be at the top of the Pacific coast conference when the season closes, and that St. Mary's, a non-conference team, is likely to again offer the claim that it has one of the strongest elevens in the far west.

Trojans Heavy

Coach Howard Jones' Trojans of U. S. C. will be one of the heaviest teams on the Pacific coast with fast men like Ernie Pinckert and Marshall Duffield to make it additionally dangerous.

The veteran chieftan, Glenn "Pop" Warner, is proud of the new combinations of Stanford Cardinals. Nearly every regular returning has gained 10 pounds or more over the winter. Before the season is over his stars, Phil Moffatt, Bill Simkins, Harry Hillman and Harlow Rothert will be "marked" men.

The hardest schedule of any Pacific coast team was picked by the University of Washington Huskies, who have a new leader, Coach James D. Phelan, from the big ten. To offset the hard work he has ahead, Phelan has Merle Hufford, a junior, who was all-American last year.

U. C. Good

On the University of California campus they claim the best team in five years, and the Golden Bears finifshed in a tie with Stanford, U. S. C. and Oregon last year. Unlike other coaches of this region, Clarence "Nibs" Price is not striving to produce any one man as a candidate for an honor team but desires, instead, that his Bears master a new shift designed to affect greater coordination.

There are six other teams in the coast conference and of them the University of Oregon, which has also acquired a new coach from the big ten, "Doc" Spears, seems destined to be the most troublesome for the "big four," having provided some major upsets last year. Oregon has retained its star, Johnny Kitzmiller.

Saints Strong

Oregon State, Washingeon State, Idaho, Montana and University of California at Los Angeles are hardly of championship calibre, according to indications now.

St. Mary's, the team that was scored upon only once in 1929, is stronger this year. The backfield, led by Mack Stennett, who was named by some all all-American last year, will probably be unexcelled by any other four men in the far west.

Teams in the conference started their second week of training today and the first title contest will be Saturday when U. S. C. meets U. C. L. A.

Bobby Jones Leads Golfers

MARION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 22.—UP— The only cricket around these parts today was the one in the long grass by the 18th green and Bobby Jones was the only one who could make him chirp.

GOVERNMENT OF SAMOA IS DISCUSSED

ABOARD S. S. OMAHA ENROUTE TO SAMOA, Sept. 22.—UP—A careful study which the congressional Samoan commission is making of Samoan customes, inmaking of Samoan customs, in and communal rights held by Samoan families, indicated tonight the drafting of a form of government unique under the American flag.

The commission is holding daily executive sessions on board ship while enroute to Samoa. These consist mainly of a study of Samoan life, regarding which the commissioners are receiving valuable information of Lawrence Judd, governor general of the Hawaiian Islands, who was named a chief by the Samoans a few years ago when he visited the islands.

The session today was designed to determine what bill of rights should be offered to the Samoans for their consideration, which will be compatable with existing Samoan customs.

The commission is working hard during hot weather to study the situation because of the brief time it will be in Samoa.

A number of residents of Samoa will be invited to offer suggestions for an organic law and a bill of rights, after which members of the commission will submit suggestions.

Senator Hiram Bingham, chairman of the commission, said that after this formality has been completed the commission will arrive at a general plan and draft it in Pago if possible.

On account of the briefness of the commission's visit, however, it may be necessary to complete the drafting in Washington and send it to Samoan chiefs for their approval before submitting it to congress.

The commission is desirous to have the report ready for the short session, although members admit the limited time may force postponement until the next session of congress.

LEGION ELEVEN WILL PLAY SUNDAY

With only five days left before the opening game of the season with the Acorn Athletic club of Oakland, the Richmond Post of the American Legion football team has settled down to hard practice perfecting plays given by Claude Samples, coach of the squad.

Tonight's practice will be held at Nicholl field, instead of at the high school, with the players meeting and dressing at the Longfellow junior high school gymnasium at five o'clock.

The game will be played Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and according to anticipations, will be a fast, hard game between two evenly matched teams.

Samples, who is athletic director of the Longfellow junior high school, has adopted a backfield formation somewhat similar to the Stanford "B" formation.

From this formation, Samples has devised a number of plays that are expected to make plenty of yardage this Sunday.

The formation, which Glenn "Pop" Warner has proved to be of the most deceptive used in present day football, will be of great advantage to the Richmond squad, as the backfield to a man, is fast and shifty.

Samples is expressing great satisfaction over the manner in which the gridmen are rounding into form, and said yesterday that he has no doubts as to the outcome of the game Sunday.

Dan Bradley is in receipt of letters from various managers of football teams all over the state, and devoted one entire afternoon last week to communicating with other teams.

According to Bradley's plans, the game Sunday will be the first of a series of Sunday games that will run through the entire season this year.

A number of new players were out to practice Sunday, and Samples warned the entire squad that each member would have to attend practices regularly or his suit would be turned over to a player who is more consistant.

RICHMOND CLUB ENTERTAINED AT AFTERNOON MEET

Entertained by an exceedingly interesting and instructive discourse on the Passion Play, related by Mrs. Emily Axtell, members of the Richmond club met for a session in the Richmond clubhouse yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Axtell has recently returned from a summer spent on the European continent and her lecture was made doubly interesting through the explanation of many details and various incidents that proved educational as well as entertaining.

Oberammergus means "upper river district" stated Mrs. Axtell, "Ober" derived from upper, "amer" meaning river and "gus" replacing "district" in our language.

She told of Antone Lang, who until the last presentation had portrayed the part of Christ for thirty years. Only unmarried girls are engaged in the cast," she stated, "and all members must be born in Bavaria."

The cast is composed of only fifty women, 200 children and 435 men. The first performance opened in May and the presentations are continued until approximately September 28, which will be the closing date this year. There are two performances weekly, one Sunday and the other Thursdays unless the great audience occasions another presentation during the week.

The profits are divided evenly among the players, the production expenses, the church and charity and the last fourth goes toward the upkeep of highways and roads. Not a great deal of profit is derived from the production as the admission is only $5.00 a reservation, but the little community that sponsors it does so only in religious endeavor.

"The performance opens in the morning and convenes for lunch after a four hour act. The play is continued for four hours in the afternoon and is more than the magnificent spectacle it is advertised to be," Mrs. Axtell declared.

Another interesting feature on the afternoon's program was the "writing stunt" performed by A. L. Paulsen, who cleverly juggled words into other words and inscribed names in many unique manners.

Tickets are now on sale for the three act farce "The Three Wise Fools" which is to be presented by women of the club October 7. Mrs. Zelda Chapin is directing the affair and the cast is composed of many well known Richmond players who have participated in other programs.

Tickets for the presentation may be obtained from any member of the club.

FOX CALIFORNIA

TODAY AND TOMORROW

BILL POWELL IN NEW FILM HERE

Two women are the motivitating forces in William Powell's latest starring picture "Shadow of the Law" which will show at the Fox-California theater, starting today for two days. One of them, the blonde Natalie Moorhead, holds Powell's future in her hand; the other, beautiful brown-haired Marion Shilling, Paramount's latest contract player is the girl he loves and cannot woo.

"Shadow of the Law" brings William Powell to the Fox-California screen in an even more thrilling, more realistically stirring picture than "Street of Chance." Here Powell is an innocent, highly cultured man convicted of a crime which he did not commit, sentenced to life in prison, and free after a breath-taking escape, to find the woman who can prove him innocent.

The story of "Shadow of the Law" is a desperate fight of one man against the unwarranted claim of society on his life. It's a man-hunt from the side of the hunted, and it ends in a glorious happiness that is triply accented because of all the suspense that precedes it. Max Marcin, well known Broadway playwright, wrote the story, from a novel by John A. Moroso, and injected into it all the fire and pulse-tingling drama which made his "Creating Cheaters," "Silence" and "Three Live Ghosts" high-spots of the Broadway stage. His climactic scene, in which Powell's desperate heroism ends forever the "Shadow of the Law" is one of the most powerful ever pictured on the screen.

Natalie Moorehead, who plays the blackmailer, was seen with Powell in the S. S. Van Dine thriller, "The Benson Murder Case." She is an accomplished and experienced actress. Marion Shilling has had a successful career on the stage and has appeared in several film hits. Regis Toomey, seen as Powell's brother in "Street of Chance," is a'so in the cast.

Also on the program is a Laurel and Hardy comedy entitled "Night Owls."

U. C. HEADS TO BE SEATED OCT. 22

BERKELEY, Sept. 22.—Tentative plans for the inauguration of President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California, to take place on the morning of October 22, were announced today by Professor W. Popper, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

As a preliminary to the inaugural ceremony, which is to be held in the Greek theater, the day preceding, October 21, will be devoted to the dedication of two new buildings on the Berkeley campus, and to the observance of the Bimillenial of the Birth of Virgil. A separate ceremony on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles will be arranged during the week following the Berkeley inauguration.

Buildings Will Be Dedicated

The first building to be dedicated will be Giannini hall, a $500,000 structure built by A. P. Giannini as a headquarters for the $1,500,000 foundation in agricultural economics which he endowed last year. The ceremony will be held at 2 p. m. on the afternoon of October 21. Two hours later, at 4 p. m. another dedicatory ceremony will be held for the $400,000 E. V. Cowell memorial hospital, which has just replaced the obsolete, inadequate student infirmary. President Sproul will preside at both ceremonies.

The observance of the Virgil Bimillenial will take place at 8:15 p. m. on the evening of the same day in the Greek theater. The program will consist of a concert by the personnel of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, the ballet of Daphne and Chloe by Ravel, and commemorative addresses on Virgil. There will be no admission charge, and the public is invited to attend. Arrangements are in the hands of Regent J. K. Moffitt, Messrs. Olivieri and Pedrini, and Dean Monroe E. Deutsch and Professor Popper. The affair will be sponsored by the Italian-American citizens of California.

Inaugural to be Held at 10 a.m.

The gates of the Greek theater will be opened at 9:30 a. m. on the morning of the inauguration. Selections will be played by the California orchestra under the direction of Professor Modeste Alloo between 9:30 and 10, while the academic procession is forming, probably at the base of the Campanile, and marching to the Greek theater.

Following the invocation, Regent Chester H. Rowell will give the introductory address. Then there will be short addresses of greeting from representatives of delegates from other universities, from the Berkeley faculty, the Los Angeles faculty, alumni, and students. President Sproul will then deliver his inaugural address. At the conclusion of the address, announcements will be made, and in conformance with past custom, honorary degrees will probably be conferred.

At 1 p. m. there will be a luncheon for President Sproul and delegates from other universities at International house. At 4 p. m. there will be a reception to delegates at the president's house.

On the day following the inauguration, the Association of American Universities will open its annual meeting on the Berkegates from universities throughout the United States, Canada and eley campus. Several hundred delEngland will be in attendance for the inauguration or for both the inauguration and the conference of the association.

U. C. 'Shacks' Will Be Torn Down, Report

BERKELEY, Sept. 22.—Twelve of the old wooden buildings on the Berkeley campus of the University of California are to be demolished immediately; others are to be torn down as soon as arrangements can be made to replace them. In announcing this Assistant Comptroller L. A. Nichols made it known today that the contract for razing these structures has been let to Symon Brothers, a wrecking firm, who paid $900 for the buildings.

The structures to be wrecked are the Anatomy building, Budd hall, Botany building, Infirmary, Infirmary annex, Infirmary garage,, Hygiene and Pathology building, Cottage No. 3 and Cottage No. 4.

The infirmary buildings are replaced by the Ernest V. Cowell memorial hospital, a modern, fireproof structure which was built from funds donated by the late Mr. Cowell and from the bond issue of 1926. The other buildings are released through the transfer of the departments they housed into the Life Science Building, provided by the bond issue.

All the buildings to be torn down are old wooden structures, erected as temporary homes for departments, but which have been used from year to year because of the lack of other available space. The fire menace on the campus will be much reduced through their destruction; hazards to life have been eliminated with the replacement of the old infirmary.

Double Marriages Bring Arrests

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—UP— A pair of double marriages allegedly without a pair of divorces, landed a pair of twins in jail tonight

And when they come out on Oct. 10 to face Judge John P. Lyle, a quartette of wives will be there to do some testifying.

Herman and Albert Jackson, born at the same time 30 years ago, married Bertha and Annie Jackson in a double ceremony about five years ago. And then they married Florence and Matilda Jackson in another double wedding a couple of years later. The first Mrs. Jacksons only found out about it today, whereupon they immediately hailed the Jackson twins into court.

Local Scots To Meet Wednesday

Nomination of officers is slated for the meeting of St. Andrew's society here tomorrow night at the Richmond clubhouse.

Plans for the fall, social season will be discussed. Barnyard golf will follow the meeting.

Peter MacCallum, president, will preside.

HOOVER SON RECOVERY SEEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—UP—Herbert Hoover Jr. 27 year old son of the president, is ill with tuberculosis, which is expected by his physicians to respond to rest treatment.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, disclosing the presence of a limited and "very early" tubercular infection in young Hoover's chest, announced he would have to give up all business activities and take a complete rest for several months.

Hoover consulting radio specialist for the Western Air Express, a Pacific coast aviation concern, has obtained an indefinite leave of absence and will remain in bed at the president's Rapidan mountain camp. A marine doctor is in daily attendance, and the patient's wife arrived here today from their home at Pasadena, Calif., to be with him.

New Test

The president plans to visit his son in company with Dr. Boone every week-end until the weather gets cold, when he will be brought to Washington for another examination.

Doctor Boone and other White House attaches emphasized that although the youth's tubercular infection has been clearly established, it was discovered early enough to offer hopes of a complete cure. Boone said he personally was very optimistic over the prospect of eliminating the disease.

Young Hoover has been here and at Rapidan for nearly a month. His illness was first disclosed two weeks ago, when it was announced that a slight stomach ailment and general run-down condition was the cause of his incapacitation.

The three children of the Hoovers were left in California.

The other son of the president, Allan, left here last night to resume his studies at the Harvard school of business administration, after a visit with his brother and their parents at the camp.

Young Hoover's illness recalls the more serious illness of Calvin Coolidge Jr., who died in Walter Reed army hospital here from a blood infection started in a blister from a tennis game on the White House courts, shortly after his father became president.

Nature's Medicine for Constipation

The greatest remedy for constipation known to mankind is provided by Nature in the form of herb juices. Plantlax, the remarkable liver tonic and internal cleanser, is a special combination of juices or extracts taken from harmless medicinal herbs. Not only does it sweep the bowels free of all accumulated waste matter, but it acts like a charm on the liver, causing that organ to throw off excess bile which pollutes the entire system. The very first dose gives amazing results. You lose that dull, loggy feeling which makes you want to sleep so much. The coating on your tongue disappears. Headaches, sour stomach, indigestion, gas, bilious attacks, dizzy spells, sallow complexion or other symptoms of constipation and torpid liver can no longer exist when your system is thoroughly cleansed of its impurities.

Anybody can take Plantlax without injurious effects. It works in a gentle, easy way—while you sleep. Large bottle $1 at all good drug stores.

PURE MOUNTAIN WATER FOR EASTBAY

Water consumers of the nine cities of the Eastbay are receiving almost pure Mokelumne water, with the smallest minimum that has ever been served from wells and tunnels, according to the current report by Frank W. Hanna, chief engineer and general manager of the Eastbay Municipal Utility diserict.

Hanna's report shows that during the last month the average daily consumption has been 41,819,000 gallons, of which only 400,000 gallons came from wells, the remainder being taken from the mountain supply in Pardee reservoir. This accounts, according to Hanna, for the remarkable softness of the local water which has been the cause of much favorable comment by consumers since the Mokelumne supply was brought in. He pointed out that the mountain supply contains much less mineral than that which comes from wells and the local water sheds, and as a result the cities of the utility district are now enjoying one of the softest waters in the United States.

While Pardee reservoir dropped a little over nine feet during the last two weeks, the local reservoirs continued to show a gain as a result of the transmission of nearly 67,000,000 gallons daily. Hanna reported that the surface of San Pablo reservoir is now three feet above the previous high water mark made in 1927 and is only three and one half feet below the sill of the upper gate in the shaft spillway. This indicates the possibility of eventually filling San Pablo reservoir which has a capacity of fifteen billion gallons, or fifteen months supply for the entire district. San Pablo reservoir now holds about six and one half billion gallons and Upper San Leandro reservoir, which has a capacity of approximately fifteen billion gallons, now holds two and one half billion gallons. The local reservoirs and Pardee reservoir combined now contain approximately forty billion gallons, with the rainy season and the promise of new water only a short distance away.

The cash receipts at the business offices for the first half of September were $212,564.96. There were 96 applications for new service received during the first 15 days of September, 49 of which were in Oakland, 25 in Berkeley, four in Alameda, six in San Leandro and 12 in Richmond. 95 families moved into the district, 50 of which located in Oakland, 25 in Berkeley, five in Alameda, four in San Leandro and 11 in Richmond.

Wisconsin Hit By Huge Fire

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., SeSpt. 22.—UP—An underground fire carpeted 100,000 acres in central Wisconsin tonight with flame.

Some 500 volunteers succeeded in confining the blaze, Wisconsin's most serious marsh fire in 25 years, to a triangular area of low lying ground.

The fire started in the forests, then swept through the underbrush and finally penetrated several inches into the moss covered ground.

The earth baked and steamed, roots flared up and trees still green topp'ed over to be consumed. Wildlife, profuse in the damp wilderness, was destroyed completely and the whole area was blackened.

Several fire fighters were overcome by smoke while others, standing too long in one place, almost had the soles of their shoes burned off.

Ordinary fire fighting methods were useless. Water and chemicals would not penetrate to the flaming debris under the surface.

The fire fighters had confined their efforts to digging ditches which saved several threatened towns in five counties. Only prolonged rains or winter snows will quench the flames authorities said

U. C. Extension Classes Lauded

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 22.—A total of 282 extension classes will be opened in southern California during the coming two weeks by the Extension Division of the University of California. Of this number, 161 classes will be opened in Los Angeles, 34 in Long Beach, 36 in Pasadena, 23 in San Diego and 28 in other cities of the southland.

Enrollment in the fall class is expected to exceed materially the registration in the fall classes a year ago, according to Miss Margaret Wotten, executive secretary. Several new instructors have been added to the faculty and many new courses will be offered.

The total enrollment for the school year of 1929-30 was 17,160, Miss Wotten announces, and it is believed this year, because of the number of inquiries, that the registration will exceed 20,000.

4 GIRLS WILL BE RETURNED TODAY

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 22.—UP—Four girls who ran away from Richmond, Calif., when they became tired of school and their uneventful life there, were enroute to their homes today.

The girls were Fern Johnston, 13; Josephine Budts, 12; Frances Chancelet 14 and Edith Hasey, 14. The parents of the Chancelet girl arrived and took charge of them today.

The girls hitch-hiked to Santa Monica, arriving early Wednesday. They were taken into custody when a hotel manager reported the girls had spent several nights in a room.

The girls have been missing from their homes here since last Monday.

Since that time a search had been instituted by state police.

It is expected that the girls will be returned to their homes here early this morning.

Bandits Hunted In Hills By Posse

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 22.—UP—Three Mexican bandits, carrying an undetermined amount of money stolen today from a bank at Uncas, Okla., led Kansas and Oklahoma posses a zig-zag chase through the Arkansas River bottoms of the two states tonight.

The bandit trio, after escaping from Uncas to the south, doubled on their tracks and drove across the Oklahoma border to Arkansas City, eluding officers who attempted to blockade highways.

The Mexicans then fled to Wellington, where they hid in the woods near that place.

Officers, stationed in a circle around the district, closed in. Authorities admitted, however, that nightfall almost precluded possibility of locating the fugitives until tomorrow.

DRY AGENTS TO BE GIVEN BACK JOBS, REPORT

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 22.—UP—With the four defendants in the Lyle-Whitney liquor conspiracy trial acquitted of all charges against them by a jury of their peers, efforts were being made to reinstate them as officials of the prohibition department.

The decision, freeing Roy C. Lyle, William Whitney, Earl Corwin and Richard Fryant, former prohibition officials, of charges to violate the prohibition, bribery and tariff laws had hardly been announced early yesterday when Dr. Ralph McGee, state president of the anti-saloon league started a move to reinstate Lyle, Whitney and Corwin.

The three officials were suspended when indictments were returned against them. Fryant resigned before the indictments were brought.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, sponsor of the "five and ten" law, announced that he will do anything he can for the reapportionment of Lyle and Whitney, according to word received here from Yakima.

"I have perfect confidence in their integrity," he declared, "and will cheerfully do anything I can for their reinstatement."

Senator Jones denied that either official had been appointed by him.

He said that Lyle, under civil service arrangements, could probably be reinstated at once and given some position equivalent to the one he held as prohibition administrator, but that Whitney must look to the department of justice for reinstatement.

Approximately 200 witnesses testified during the northwest's biggest prohibition trial that lasted six weeks and cost the government about $75,000.

INSANITY IS SHAMMED BY APE BOY

SAN Quentin Prison, Sept. 22.—UP—Informed that Governor C. C. Young had refused to interfere with the execution of his sentence on the gallows of this prison a week from Thursday, Gordon Stewart Northcott screamed and yelled wildly today.

The youth convicted on charges of killing three small boys whom he mistreated on his Wineville ranch near Riverside, appeared to be having a fit, guards reported.

Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, was called at once and he reported tonight that the "attack" was an attempt to feign insanity.

Warden James Holohan concurred with the physician in the opinion that it was a ruse as final recourse to escape hanging.

A short time after Northcott began his "demonstration," he was carried on a stretcher into the office of J. H. Carpenter captain of the gaurd, to talk to his mother, who is serving a life term here on a charge of murder. There he again started to make as loud a noise as he could.

Neither Pinched Waists Nor Pinched Minds

THIS autumn's most horrid fashion rumor is the report that the hourglass figure may return. It's the last word from Vionnet of Paris, and it should arouse fiercer feminine indignation than even last autumn's threatened revival of the long skirt. We all know how firmly most American women dealt with that calamity, wearing really long skirts only for the most formal evening occasions.

Furthermore, the protests by dancers who loathed getting tangled up in floor-sweepers have had their salutary effect on this year's evening dresses. In the dispatches about the Paris openings it is frequently and explicitly stated that dance frocks are to be shorter in order that dancers may cease to step on them. At least one famous French couturier is showing designs for formal evening wear eight inches from the floor in front, and many of the new party dresses come only to the ankle.

The long skirt, however, while inconvenient and absurd, probably would not injure the health of women as much as the hourglass or pinched-in waist—if that heinous hygienic offense really does stage a comeback. Think of the soft, supple bodies of our daughters, the future mothers of the race, being constricted and tortured between ribs of steel and [illegible] mber how, not so [illegible] ago, girls would [illegible] around the bed-[illegible] pull in the waist to its abnormally but fashionably tiny circumference? No wonder women in those days fainted all over the place, and that the first remedy, when they fell into a swoon, was to cut their lacings!

THAT such things ever were is appalling enough; that they should be again is insupportable to sane American women. They must once more take a firm stand against a French fashion verdict, and we feel confident that they will. You cannot turn back the hands of the clock, nor can you turn a woman back to the unnatural hourglass figure, after she has experienced for years the comfort and health of a body incased in no more bones than those allowed her by nature.

Every advertisement of girdles and foundations offered by New York shops stresses their lightness, their ease, their absence of brutally pinching restraints. Furthermore, that veteran New York corsetiere, Mme. Binner—who, even in the days when she corseted Lillian Russell, warned her clients against tight lacing—explicitly prophesied, in The Evening World the other day:

"The hourglass figure is never coming back, for women learned the harm it did."

Pinched waists for women, in the opinion of Mme. Binner, went out with pinched minds, and the former have no more chance of returning than the latter. It is interesting to note that this shrewd observer—who by the nature of her business, has been on the most intimate terms with her sex for at least thirty years—is an optimist about modern women, a point of view shared by this column.

HERE are six good marks for the women of 1930, as tabulated for THE WOMAN OF IT by Mme. Binner:

1. Conversation. They no longer discuss John and his office worries, Junior and his recovery from the measles, and other intimate themes that don't reach beyond the horizon of their home circle. World topics and even the movements of the universe are not too big for them to be considering and discussing today.

2. Temperament. It used to be looked upon as the prerogative of the great lady to go into a fit of hysterics on the slightest provocation. Such a thing is so little known today as almost to constitute a breach of good taste.

3. Punctuality. Again, the grande dame formerly lost caste if she should keep an appointment with her fitter on time. The woman of today sees to it that she is there ahead of her appointment.

4. Tolerance. The spiteful recording of the activities of friends and the accompanying petty backbiting and critical gossip are things of the past. Women of today are boosters for one another.

5. Optimism. The woman of 1930 believes in today and in the future. She forgets yesterday's difficulties, instead of brooding over them morbidly. Even the stock market crash, which hit her pocketbook mighty hard, didn't faze her.

6. Appearance. Infinitely healthier, with no hypochondriac tendencies. Younger and more perfect bodies. It looks as if we'll shortly have no old women!

THE physical and mental emancipation of modern women is responsible for their "modern improvements," in the opinion of this wise and friendly student of her ex. Such being the case, women simply cannot afford to allow body or brain to be "cabin'd, cribb'd, confined" by fashion. It is not—decidedly NOT—the hour for the hourglass figure. Women may as well fight it out on the unpinched waistline if it takes all winter.

FIREFLIES

(Fancy at a Stadium Concert)

The music falls and dies away in space,
The crowd, released, is swift applause to send—
Swept like a forest fitful night winds bend;
Matches leap up in flame and dance in place,
The crowd grows dim, I picture dark green lace
Edging a road on which my way I wend,
My only light the glow that fireflies lend,
My company, proud trees that toss with grace.

But soon my friend breaks up my reverie,
She speaks, and fantasy is in her eyes;
She smiles, and sees the surging crowd with me,
The darkness slowly deepens in the skies
And cigarets are lit and seem to be
A myriad host of dancing fireflies

But They Really Might Wait Till Cooler Weather

This is the month when two intrepid males are to publish a volume entitled Salome, the Wandering Jewess: My First 2,000 Years of Love. Well, we've always understood that the first 2,000 years are the hardest.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

HAVE you ever noticed how the things you expect and expect intensely come to pass?

When you start downtown to find a pretty dress you generally find what you want if you do not let your mind wander.

So it is with success—you are entitled to it and you get it if you expect it.

Your expecting should be positive and never negative.

If you expect to get a job, do not let your mind be bothered with the thought that you will not get it. That is disastrous.

EXPECT NOTHING BUT GOOD.

Oh, Go to Bed

By Eliot Kays Stone

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

"DAD, why can't we slide up hill?"

"Because we are heavy. Our weight pulls us down hill."

"Why does weight pull us down hill?"

"Because that is what weight is—the pull of gravity toward the center of the earth."

"What's gravity?"

"The mysterious force which causes every particle of matter to pull toward every other particle. As the particles are clustered more thickly about this globe we call 'the earth' than upon any one object upon the earth, the pull of the earth is stronger than the pull of other objects, and pulls these objects down to the surface of the earth."

"Why does gravity pick out only every other particle?"

"Oh, go to bed."

Cleaning Box

DO NOT throw things away indiscriminately when you move. An article that was designed for one purpose may serve adequately for another in the new apartment. A business woman changing from a kitchenette apartment to one without, salvaged a bread box by painting it green to match the color in her tiny bathroom and using the box to hold cleansing powders, brushes and dusters.

Shelf space may be added to small bathrooms at little expense by buying the small corner shelves available in household furnishing departments. Two, three, and four may be fitted into one corner, and the effect is attractive.

Modernizing the Home

The Inviting Fireplace Group

By Alma Zaiss

A FIREPLACE GROUP OF EXCEPTIONAL CHARACTER, ILLUSTRATING BALANCE AND COMFORT WITHOUT BULKINESS

Dear Miss Zaiss:

It is my intention to refurnish the living room and the adjoining bedroom of a six-room apartment in an old two-family frame house. I have three pieces of furniture, sofa, chair and odd chair. These are to be reupholstered. Also a walnut console victrola, walnut table model radio, copy of famous painting 41x45 inches, long mirror, glass table lamp, a golden oak bookcase.

Questions: What material and color of upholstering do you suggest for furniture? As living room is to be redecorated, would you suggest paint or paper? What hangings and rug for living room? What style shade and color for lamp? Would you suggest having bookcase stained walnut and would a spinet or kidney-shaped desk be appropriate? Please suggest tables or other pieces of furniture needed. The expense must be minimized, as our stay here may be of short duration. What color stain would you suggest for border of floor (2-inch pine boards)?

The smaller room off living room to be used as bedroom with daybed. What hangings, furniture and rug would you suggest? This room has one window facing south and opening on narrow areaway darkened by adjoining house.

Thanking you in advance for any suggestions you may offer, I am

(MRS.) M. C. O'H.

A Pleasing Summer-and-Winter Plan

Copyright, Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WHEN we attempt to visualize the old-fashioned home, what picture comes first to mind? Is it not invariably the "real" fireplace which for centuries has contributed so generously to the comfort and hospitality of old-time living room?

Modern builders, having given us most excellent steam-heating systems, may consider the fireplace a bygone necessity and deprive us of it in the effort to conserve space and expense. But never can they apologize sufficiently for withholding from us this one architectural feature which more than any other makes for livability and interest.

In Mrs. O'H's room, then, let us welcome the fireplace just opposite the entrance door, and literally build the scheme of the room around it, striving for an arrangement that will be as comfortable for the summer season as during winter when a brisk fire sputters on the hearth.

The shape of the room would permit us to use the sofa directly before the fireplace, with arm chairs at either side and perhaps a longish table with lamps behind the sofa. But such a placement would tend to cut the fireplace group off from the rest of the room and would not begin to give the summer-and-winter comfort of the plan suggested on the diagram of arrangement.

In order to use this setting to best advantage, Mrs. O'H's sofa should be of a size and shape that will look well against the windows—that is, not too high in back and not too bulky in outline. We would place the present stuffed chair to the right of the fireplace and the odd chair to the right of the sofa, and then add two other interesting chairs and a table for the group to the left of the hearth.

DIAGRAM OF ARRANGEMENT

In studying the illustration Mrs. O'H may disregard the little settee shown. She will not need it with her large sofa. But other readers who are fond of colonial and early American furniture will find it very interesting in relation to the other pieces. It makes an excellent substitute for the love-seat or fireside sofa or the customary overstuffed chair.

A small wing chair to the left of the hearth would be suitable for Mrs. O'H's room, and if preferred she might have a rush seat ladder-back arm chair or a fine old Windsor instead of the rocker shown, and the round table could be a tip-top or pie-crust table or small gateleg in walnut. The table illustrated is beautiful and appropriate for the sturdy companions in its own room.

A spinet desk or a small table desk would be quite all right, and Mrs. O'H might use above it a small, light-weight hanging shelf to balance the bookcase on the opposite wall. Ordinarily we should paint bookshelves the same color as the wall, but in this case the walnut finish will help to balance the desk and the several dark wood pieces at the far end of the room. One interesting pottery vase could be used on top of the bookcase. The painting will doubtless make a charming overmantel piece, and we do not seem to find a good location for the long mirror. Perhaps it will go in the foyer, above a small chest or console.

A color scheme is needed for the room—a rich, warm combination that will further increase the livability of our plan. The illustration shows a very interesting patterned carpet in a rough English woolen weave that is delightful with the early American furniture and the mellow pine-paneled walls. A similar and very good wall effect could be had with one of the wood panel papers which are such clever imitations of the real thing that the casual glance can scarcely detect the difference.

If Mrs. O'H—— prefers painted walls, hers could be done in two tones of rich old ivory; or she could have them papered with a soft old colonial scenic paper having an indefinite pattern in pale brown tones on a beige or ivory ground (a much warmer combination than gray and ivory). In either case the woodwork should be beige or an old ivory tone slightly deeper than the ground color of the walls. The pine boards of the flooring she might stain a pleasing walnut tone, and use over them a soft brownish carpet with a hooked rug in friendly colors before the fireplace.

Draperies of chintz having a pale brown ground and a flower pattern in glowing colors including blue-green, pinks and reds and some ivory, would be good for over-draperies at the double window. We would use the chintz to slip-cover the two easy chairs at either side of the fireplace, and wool damask in a rich blue-green shade would be our choice for the sofa. The odd chair (which doubtless has open arms) might have a striped or small-figured covering in which there is some red, blue-green and gold, and the seat pad for the desk chair could be in lighter blue-green. A wall paper screen in the green and beige tones would look well in the position indicated, and also serve to repeat this color in the far end of the room. If the screen is used, then perhaps the seat of the desk chair would be better in dull rose-red.

The glass lamp with a simple pleated or parchment shade in gold tones would be good for the round table near the fireplace; old brass lamps with parchment shades for the sofa tables and brass candlesticks with cream colored tapers for the spinet or table desk.

In Mrs. O'H.'s bedroom, which is very small and has a daybed, if at all possible we would close the hall door to make room for the daybed on that wall and place a very shallow chest of drawers to the left of the folding doors.

We would stain the floors a walnut color and wax them to match the border in the living room and use hooked rugs over them. A lowboy with a hanging mirror and a stool could be used as a dressing table in the position shown on the diagram . . . keeping toilet articles in the side drawers, and a lamp, books and a colored box or bowl of flowers on the table top.

There is room for one comfortable chair and a tip-top, or butterfly, table near the window; also a small stand and lamps at the head of the daybed. We would remove the center light and cap the wires, if possible, using lamps on the tables and one standing lamp by the chair.

Walls to be painted ivory or a pale creamy yellow; hangings of chintz having a cream or pale yellow ground and a pretty floral pattern in harmony with the rugs and also compatible with the chintz used in the living room. For the easy chair, a slip-cover of the chintz, for the daybed a plain cover of Croydon stripe in a nice shade of dark turquoise or bluish green. If it stands by the wall as indicated, the daybed will want a number of cushions in plain colors repeating those found in the rugs and curtains, and perhaps a group of old-fashioned prints on the wall above. We would use pewter or glass lamps in this room, and again have simple gold-colored shades.

If the hall door cannot be kept closed, of course, the daybed may have to go beneath the windows; then the lowboy may be placed where the daybed is now and the easy chair could be moved over nearer to the folding doors.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright, 1930, by Press Publishing Company (New York World)

As the fresh fruits available in the markets dwindle to a very small selection, it is good news for the housewife that canned fruits of the best quality are lower priced than they were last year.

While there are still several fresh fruits to choose from, I would not suggest using canned ones except on those occasions when you do your marketing so late in the day that the best of the day's stock is exhausted. Only three days ago I found delicious strawberries in an uptown market at 25 cents a quart and raspberries at 20 cents a pint, but there were only a few boxes left by noon. The late comers were confronted by a selection of inferior peaches and weather-beaten blueberries. Only the plums, pears and apples were of good quality. Within a short time the selection of fresh fruits will be even more limited, so it is well to look ahead and learn what delicacies can be made of canned fruits.

KAREN HOLLIS

There are many delightful desserts that can be made of canned apricots or stewed, dried apricots and today I am going to tell you how to make apricot turnovers. These aren't the ordinary turnovers that you make with a bit of pie crust dough. These are delicate and different, for the pastry shell is made with cream cheese.

APRICOT TURNOVERS

2 cakes cream cheese
½ cup butter
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup (about) halved apricots

Work the cream cheese with a spoon until it is soft, then add the butter, mixing well. Stir in the pinch of salt, then blend in the flour, a little at a time. When the dough is well mixed, form it in a roll, and set in the icebox to chill. If convenient, mix the dough a day before baking and let it chill in the icebox overnight. The chilling time can be cut down to an hour or two, but the result is not so satisfactory. After chilling, cut the dough off in slices and roll each one out very thin in squares two to four inches wide. Place one or two apricot halves on each square, pinch the corners together, place on ungreased baking pan, and bake in a hot oven for about fifteen minutes, or until faintly brown. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve.

HIGHER AND DRIER EDUCATION

A SESSION with the prohibition agents who are going to school in Washington, D. C.

TEACHER (ringing bell)—School will now come to order.

WILLIE B.—Teacher, here is some nice, red, rosy applejack I brought you.

TEACHER—That's very nice of you, Willie. (Deposits jug under desk.) Now, pupils, I want you to pay strict attention in today's classes. As you know, your government has brought you agents together in this school to study enforcement and the three R's of prohibition liquor—namely, reeling, writhing and emetics.

PUPILS—Yes, teacher.

* * *

TEACHER—Now, Tommy D., let me hear you solve this problem in algebra. If a bootlegger and a half drives a truck and a half past a dry agent and a half, what will be his profit for the day?

TOMMY—The bootlegger's profit or the dry agent's?

TEACHER—The bootlegger's, Tommy. And explain it by algebra.

TOMMY—Well, you let XXX represent the whiskey. But the stuff is cut 50 per cent, so you divide XXX in half and get XV. But the prohibition agent gets his for every case that goes by in the truck, so we let X represent the $10 bill the agent gets. Now, if one agent gets an X, then an agent and a half gets an X and a half, or XV. And that means the bootlegger don't get no profit at all.

* * *

TEACHER—Very good, Tommy. You have an excellent understanding of the subject. Now let us have our history lesson. Johnny K., who said, "Don't shoot 'till you see the whites of their eyes!"

JOHNNY—A prohibition agent. He got a distinguished service medal.

TEACHER—Correct. Now, Freddy K., why did Washington cross the Delaware and when did he do it?

FREDDY—Washington crossed the Delaware the night before Christmas and he was delivering brandy for the plum pudding.

TEACHER—Correct! Pupils, this is a very good history lesson. Now Albert, can you tell us who said, "Don't give up the ship!"

ALBERT—A prohibition agent said it to rum runners on Lake Erie, but what he said was "Don't give us the slip." He wanted to collect.

TEACHER—Very, very good. Now let us turn to the study of astronomy. Elmer, what is the most important star in the universe?

ELMER—The star on a prohibition agent's vest. But the three on a Hennessy label ain't so bad, either.

* * *

TEACHER—Excellent, Elmer. Now, pupils, we shall pass to the lesson on constitutional law. Jimmy T., if you were a prohibition agent, would you be justified in breaking into an art museum and cracking up all the statues?

ELMER—Yes, teacher, on the grounds that Venus de Milo had something on her hip. Then every art museum has that Laocoon statue of the big guy struggling with snakes, which would indicate liquor was being sold on the premises.

TEACHER—Absolutely correct. Now, Alfred, if you smelled bran mash as you passed a private residence, state your legal justification for busting into the house without a warrant.

ALFRED—My justification would be Shakespeare. He says, "Four Roses by any other name would smell as sweet."

TEACHER—Good! Now that's all for today, pupils. And for tomorrow I want you all to learn the dry agents' alma mater song—

"Shut the door, they're coming through the window.
"Shut the window, they're coming through the door.
"Shut the door, they're coming through the window.
"My God, they're coming through the floor!"

THIS AND THAT

The way things have been going lately, the President of a South American republic can either choose to run or get the bum's rush.

Candidates for the New York Fire Department must hereafter have a minimum height of 5 feet 7 inches, instead of 5 feet 6. It's to aid them fighting fires in skyscrapers, probably.

The American and British polo ists resume their matches this week, with mallets for all and charity toward none.

Babe Ruth has opened his haberdashery store and if he can sell Hack Wilson just one collar, he'll be doing a big business.

Fear Resigned Argentine President May Resume Office Again—Headline. Or in the words of the famous Irish ditty, Irigoyen, you're only fooling!"

William Randolph Hearst has bought the dining room of an English castle and he will start saving up till he can afford the kitchenette.

Science says the universe may be 39 per cent smaller than it always thought it was. Which is certainly a dirty trick to play on the recently elected Beauty Queen of the Universe.

Girl Who Posed for Fisher Bodies Weds—Headline.

Well, here's wishing her a happy married life and lots of luck before.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Aged Man To Run Free Hotel

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22. —UP— An 87-year-old retired pawnbroker, T. Dunn has bought the once magnificient brick building which was formerly the home of the St. Louis club and will use it "as a sort of hotel free to young men seeking a place in the world."

Dunn began life as a newsboy, and grew rich through real estate investments and operation of a pawn broker's establishment. He has spent $100,000 remodeling the "free hotel" and plans to endow it.

Already several youths have been admitted as "guests" and when dormitory space has been completed, more than 50 will find lodgings.

"I'll support the place," Dunn explains. "When the boys get on their feet they can contribute to its further maintenance. The hotel will help them find jobs. It is a large building and it is possible it will be used for other charities."

Circuit Judge Thomas Hennings is chairman of the corporation which will administer affairs of the hotel. He said Dunn's idea of the local applicant "is a country boy who wants to make good in the city, but we are glad to take under privileged city boys too. We want boys between 14 and 21. We don't want any floaters."

BOARD SCORES HYDE WHEAT CHARGES

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—UP—Hunt for the Russian bear in the wheat pits of the Chicago board of trade halted momentarily tonight when the board wired Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde for more information to support his charge that Soviet Russia had sold wheat short in Chicago.

The business conduct committee of the board met shortly after trade had closed for the day, remained in session for an hour and then characterized Hyde's charges as rumors.

In a series of telegrams to John A. Bunnell, president of the board, the secretary of agriculture charged that the All Russian Textile syndicate, agent of the soviet government, had sold at least 7,500,000 bushels of wheat short in Chicago.

Hyde intimated that the Russian trade was responsible in part for the present low prices on the grain.

The business conduct committee, endowed with broad powers in investigating and disciplining members of the board of trade, decided that it had insufficient information to take action on Hyde's charges.

Trade in the new skyscraper quarters of the board apparently was little affected by Hyde's charges. Only fractional losses and gains were recorded in the pits all day. Closing prices ranged ¼ to 3-5 cents lowed.

RUSSIANS HIT AT LEAGUE MEETING

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—UP—An attack against the dumping of agricultural products in European countries by the Soviet Union was made before the League of Nations economic commission today by Virgile Madgearu minister of commerce of Roumania.

Immediately after the demands of Poland for preferential treatment of the European grain surplus by exporting countries, Madgearu addressed the commission on the question of tariffs for the continental nation, especially the southeastern countries.

The Roumanian minister said the southeastern nations were compelled to take measures against cheap dumping of products by the Soviet and also were forced to protect themselves against the underselling of agricultural products in Europe by exporting countries overseas.

"It is a matter of life and death with our population," Madgearu said. "Especially since these hundred million persons are mostly agriculturists."

The commission concentrated on the European economic crisis, holding sessions until late at night to air the views of various delegates before the foreign ministers attending the league meeting discussion tomorrow, for the first time in such a session, the project of Aristide Briand for a European federation. One of the chief pleas of Briand has been that such a union would aid in solving the economic difficulties of Europe.

With this in mind Pierre Flandin the French minister of economics, followed the trend of Margearu's speech when he addressed the commission, asking the nations to ratify regime paving the way for general revision of European economic policies. There were frequent references in a sharp manner to over-seas competition, together with comment on the prohibitive tariffs in western Europe and the United States.

Meanwhile, the political commission of the league debated the question of minority peoples in Europe and was still deadlocked over a proposal to institute a committee on maporities as well as a move for revision of the status of minorities in the post-war alignment in Europe. There was a bitter argument bewteen August Zalewski of Poland and Dr. Julius Curtiws, the foreign minister of Germany, which lost a large population to Poland after the World war.

tained in the project document. It was hoped, when the contract was first begun, that the funds on hand would build a greater length of training wall, but subsidence, particularly in the outer 1000 feet of length, was greater than expected. Plans have been completed for extending the training wall for the remaining 3000 feet to its full project length. The estimated total cost of completing it is $190,000. Government funds are on hand to pay its portion of the cost of the work, and, if the City of Richmond will contribute $90,000 which, added to the amount on hand, will make up its quota, the work will be done immediately. It is considered important that the training wall be completed as soon as possible in order that the excessive deterioration in the channel may be arrested.

"As soon as the training wall has been completed, it is planned to redredge the entire length of the channel to 28 feet, as maintenance to be paid for entirely by the United States. It is believed that this dredging will provide adequate depths in the harbor until funds are available for deepening to 30 feet. Present plans call for the deepening to be done in the fiscal year 1934. When the work is done, the government will again pay for redredging to 28 feet, and the government and local interests jointly will pay for the deepening from 28 feet to project depth.

"It is desired to commence work on the completion of the training wall as soon as practicable. Early action by the City of Richmond regarding the contribution of necessary funds will therefore be appreciated."

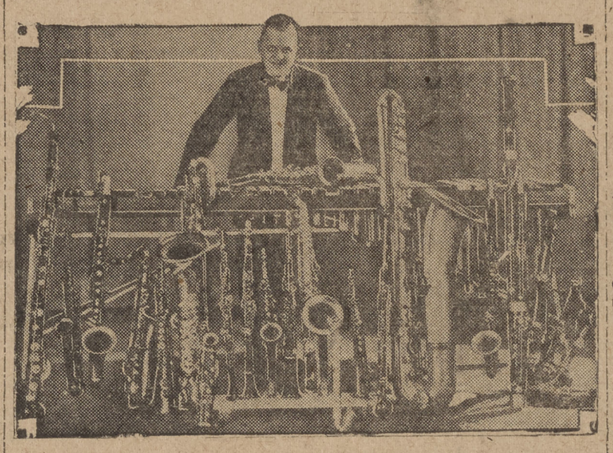
Variety Player



Here's a man who can play 27 instruments and is continually inventing new ones to achieve some elusive or provoking musical effect. His name is Ross Gorman, known throughout the radio and musical world as one of the most versatile and sought after instrumentalists on the air. His numerous radio fans mostly know him as a member of B. A. Rolfe's Lucky Strike dance orchestra with which he plays the array of instruments pictured above.

Gorman claims the distinction of being the first musician to introduce "doubling" on different instruments in a band. Today, almost every reed player "doubles" on one or two instruments. Gorman's other claim to fame is that he introduced for the first time in any dance combination such novel instruments as the bass clarinet, the oboe, the octavin, the hecklephone, the soprano saxophone and others.

Ross took to radio broadcasting naturally. His career is checkered with a breadth of experience in show business and music that seems inconsistent with his comparative youth. Born in New Jersey, he started in a musical vaudeville act with his parents at the age of ten. He remained in the glamorous show business as actor and musician until 1914. After a year of concert work Ross organized one of the first novelty dance bands, the rage at that time as the predecessors of the modern jazz orchestra.

Today, Ross Gorman is one of the outstanding members of B. A. Rolfe's Lucky Strike dance orchestra, which includes in its roster many concert masters, band leaders and famous solo instrumentalists.

Some of the instruments Ross Gorman plays are: the hecklephone, the English horn, the bassoon, the tenor saxophone, the E flat sopranino, the bass saxophone, the terra cotta, the oboe, the clarinet, the alto saxophone, the bass clarinet, the baritone saxophone, the octavin, the clariphone, the soprano saxophone, the Rothphone, the alto clarinet, the double bass saxophone, the conosax, the Scotch bagpipes, the marimbas, the drums, and the bom basse (string)

BRIDGE QUEEN WILL BE NAMED

MARTINEZ, Sept. 22.—Active operations are now under way for organizing one of the outstanding features of the Martinez $12,000,000 bridge celebration on Nov. 1, and the selection of some girl in this region who will reign as the Queen of Progress. The selection to be by popular vote.

Candidates for the event may be entered from any point in northern California. Cash prizes will be given to the winner and other candidates according to their standing at the close of the contest, but the real incentive will be the many honors bestowed upon the winner and her compraiots. The winner of the contest, as Queen of Progress, will reign supreme at all official functions held during the celebration.

One of the many recognitions given to the one who achieves this high honor will be a special coronation ball to be held at the Martinez Women's club on Friday evening, Oct. 31, at which time the Queen of Progress and her royal court will be officially presented to the public. It is rumored that James Rolph Jr., Republican nominee for the governorship, will be the one who does the honors.

Many other notables will be present, and a pageant, with the Queen of Progress and her royal court as the leading feature, will be held in a magnificent setting of light and color suitable for such an occasion.

The management of the selection of the Queen of Progress has been entrusted to W. F. Hamilton of San Francisco and his assistant Wayne L. Simpson.
